Dear Leader,

Please, please, please pay attention to and support Power Sharing in the Senate!

Power Sharing in the Senate! Not a far-right agenda!

We can't agree on the presidential race, but can we agree that the nation has voted for a sharing of power between the parties in the Senate?

Two things of concern in the legislature are

a) Democrats and Republicans should share the subcommittee chairs, but the Republicans have indicated that they will not allow that through use of their tie-breaker in Cheney (if Gore wins, Lieberman loses his seat and the Senate goes 51-49 Republican)

b) Republicans have indicated they will push for a far right agenda.

If Bush succeeds, the fight is not over if they do these things. America has voted for a sharing of power. It is not appropriate for the GOP to bully their way to maximum control. They could do alot to show that they can be a party for all Americans if they would lead from the center as opposed to the far right.

Some people think that because Cheney/Bush's son have announced they'd like to place Democrats in their cabinet that that's enough. Not only is it not enough, they are seeking to place a Democratic senator from a state with a Republican governor to a cabinet position in a sneaky move to take control of the senate.

If more people paid more attention to these things, I think most would agree this is not power sharing. People have voted for power sharing and the GOP is again bullying their way to power.

Regardless of who wins Florida, our commitment to democracy may be damaged and needs fixing.

Thank you very much for your attention,

Mark Nemeth, EVP Internet Software Company
